OVER-the-GARDEN-WALL
THE KELLOGGS NORTH GRANBY, CONN.

HELLO—

Yes, this is Over-the-Garden-Wall in smaller form, but in greater desire to serve and please you. Although this folder is more of a price list than a catalogue, we wish to assure you that we have more plants than ever to sell, and plants in the finest condition. We will be more than pleased to supply you with detailed descriptions of any or all of the varieties in which you are interested. Since we felt it "The better part of valor" to reduce the printing of our (of necessity, impersonal) commercial listing — during these days of "Emergency" — we do hope to more than make up in personal correspondence with all of you.

If this "Duration" is to be a lengthy one, we do believe that National Moral must be upheld by preserving as many of our Arts and Health-giving Recreations as do not interfere with the "War Effort." And certainly Flower Gardening and Hybridizing are among the finest National Arts and Pleasures. So we urge those who can to foster Gardening more than ever before, and to lead the many who have relatives in the Armed Services to secure a measure of diversion and peace in the out-of-door Garden.

INTRODUCING

SNOW SENTINEL (Baker '42) This tall seedling of Easter Morn x a hardy white, has demonstrated its ability to weather successfully our winters of continual freezing and thawing. The huge 5" to 6" flowers are perfectly proportioned with flaring falls and nicely domed standards. The waxy substance is heavy, very resistant to wind and sun, and does not spot in the rain — as do so many. While the blooms are a pure warm white the entire flower is brightened by the orange-yellow beard and a glittering of gold upon the falls. 50" $15.00

BOLD COMMANDO (Thompson-Kellogg '42) Hemerocallis. One of the tallest, largest, richest reds we know, between ruby and scarlet — we believe it very close to a real red — unlike any other. Petals and sepals recurve in a delightful wide open manner — the petals are medium broad. The throat radiates a golden orange, carried well out onto the prominent midribs. The many blooms are carried on stout stalks. The foliage is rather short; so we recommend this far carrying, tall variety for a showy background. 60" $10.00
